me, Barbara! Say 'I love you' now!"

The girl hesitated for no more than a moment, while her whole body quivered.

"God help me!" she said then, "I do love you! I love you too well to let you link your life with mine, to let you take upon yourself the shadow of my disgrace."

"But you have no disgrace. You are innocent. The fault is not yours that your father betrayed his trust a score of years ago—before you were born."

The two were standing now.

"I want you to sit down while I answer you, Barbara," said Duncan, with almost unimaginable tenderness in his tone. "No, not in that straight backed chair, for I want you to listen to all I have to say and to be at ease while you listen. Sit here," pushing an easy chair forward, "sit here where you can see my face as I speak. I want you to see in my eyes the sincerity of my soul. Now I know you, Barbara, for what you are, and I love you for that alone. What your father may have done or been makes no difference to me; it in no way alters or lessens my love for you, and it never will. Knowing it all, I am more earnest than ever in my purpose to make you my wife if I can persuade you to that after I have told you something about myself that may very justly seem to you a real bar to my hopes."

"Go on, please," said the girl. "Tell me what you will, but I shall never believe anything ill of you. I know better."

"Thank you for saying that, dear," he responded, with a tremor in his tone. "But unhappily others may believe it. If they do, then the career you have expected for me must be at an end at once. My reputation for integrity will be gone for good, and I must be content to surrender all my ambitions. That is why I must tell you of this ugly thing before again asking you to be my wife."

"Go on," she said again. "But I shall believe nothing bad of you, even though an angel should tell me."

"I told you the other night," he said, "that I had quarreled with Napper Tandy, that he had tried to tempt me with a money bribe to do an infamous thing. He now gives it out that it was I who proposed the bribe; that I went to him with an offer to do that infamous thing for hire and that he indignantly rejected the offer."

"He lies!" broke in the girl.

"Yes, he lies, of course," answered Duncan, "but I have no way of proving it. He and I were alone and in his house. There were no witnesses. How, then, am I ever to clear my name of so foul an accusation?"

"There is no need," answered the girl. "Nobody who knows you will ever believe the story. Captain Hallam would not think it worth asking a question about."

"No; Captain Hallam would not for a moment think of such a thing as even possible. But that is because he knows me as few other men do or ever will. But the accusation troubles him, because he knows that other people will believe it. He and Richard Temple are at this moment busy trying to find some way of clearing my name of the foul slander. They will do all that two loyal and sagacious friends can do to accomplish that purpose. But I cannot imagine any way in which they can succeed."

"What is it they are doing?"

"I do not know. They have refused to tell me. I only know that they can never succeed."

"Oh, you must not think that. You don't know what wonders Captain Hallam can do."

"I think I know how to answer now."

I am can work when he is in earnest. You must have hope and confidence. Besides, nobody who knows you will ever believe such a story as that. Your own life will contradict the lie, and Tandy's reputation is not of a kind to lead sensible people to believe his falsehood when you have set the truth against it. You are depressed and despondent now. The mood is unworthy of you."

"Tell me what I should do."

A PLEA FOR LIFE

Mr. Delmas In Impassioned
Terms Asks Jury to Spare
His Client.

THE "UNWRITTEN LAW"

Was Not Made the Basis of the Great Western Advocate's Pleadings
After All the Predictions.

His Client, Mr. Delmas Affirmed, Was Amplly Protected by the Laws of the State.

New York, April 9.—The trial of Harry K. Thaw, charged with the murder of Stanford White, is nearing the end. Attorney Delmas this afternoon concluded his address to the jury. District Attorney Jerome will make the closing address of the trial on Wednesday and Thaw's fate should be in the hands of the jury by Wednesday evening. Justice Fitzgerald yesterday ordered the jury locked up until the end of the trial. In view of this, the judge's charge to the jury undoubtedly will be delivered immediately the district attorney concludes. The latter says his speech will occupy not more than three or four hours.

Declaring he would not base his plea upon the "unwritten law" because his client found ample protection in the written statutes of the state of New York, Mr. Delmas made a striking appeal to the sympathies of the jurors. He based his argument solely upon the story of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. With flushed cheeks, but dry eyes, that young woman heard her life history repeated to the men who are to judge her husband and bowed her head as her mother was denounced in the bitterest terms and tones the eloquent lawyer could command.

"Even a beast protects its young," he declared with scornful emphasis, "but this unnatural mother deserted her daughter in this city of millions to be betrayed by a false friend, to be lured into a gilded palace and there left the victim of a gray-haired man, wounded, bleeding and devoured."

Mr. Delmas went with great detail into the life Evelyn Nesbit had led up to her meeting with Harry Thaw. In all his remarks he referred to her as "this child," for child he said she was today. He told of Thaw's great love for her and his efforts to rescue her from "the clutches of Stanford White," whose achievements in his profession, the attorney declared, were an aggravation of his crime.

Mr. Delmas before beginning his attack upon Evelyn Thaw's mother, poured out a torrent of denunciation upon the architect who became the victim of Thaw's pistol. He accused him of the "crime of rape," and then declared that President Roosevelt had said in a message of congress that such a crime should be visited with death. This was one of the suggestions which Thaw himself made to his counsel for his summing-up speech, one of the suggestions which played so important a part in the proceedings before the lunacy commission.

Mr. Delmas declared that God heard the cry of the fated child upon whom Stanford White had fixed his gaze and had determined should be his. He quoted from scripture that "He who afflicts a fatherless child shall perish," and declared that Providence had sent Thaw to avenge the wrong.

The attorney declared that Thaw is his wife's only protector—that he came into her life when she was on the downward path, told her that no matter what the world thought of her, she was to him an angel. He took her to be his wife, ready to share the burdens that a mother had helped to place upon her daughter. Mr. Delmas accused Mrs. Nesbit of having lived upon the wages of her daughter's ruin. He sought to picture to the jury what he termed the sinister surroundings in which the girl had been reared, and in doing so he mercilessly attacked the mother. Mr. Delmas rose to the highest point of his address when he told the jury that the girl's mother was the one who had furnished District Attorney Jerome with the arrows with which to wound the daughter on cross-examination—a cross-examination which he declared would live long in the annals of criminal history, but which left the girl's story unshaken in all its essential details.

That Evelyn Nesbit's story was true and was told to Harry Thaw, formed the subject of the argument for more than an hour. Mr. Delmas declared the only evidence the district attorney had to bring against the girl was the "miscalled affidavit" procured by Abraham Hummel. Speaking of Hummel, Mr. Delmas again drew heavily upon his bitterest invectives and declared that it would require more than the word of a perjurer man to send Harry Thaw to an ignominious death. Hummel was accused by Mr. Delmas of having committed deliberate perjury upon the stand in the present trial when he swore he was not acting as Evelyn Nesbit's counsel and that no action was contemplated in her behalf. He said the so-called affidavit itself convicted the man of these falsehoods. Mr. Delmas devoted practically all of his address to a resume of the evidence of certain witnesses, except the peroration, which was an impassioned and eloquent final plea for the defendant's life.

The courtroom was crowded with an eager throng. Justice Fitzgerald's injunction that absolute quiet must be maintained was hardly necessary, for there was interest in every utterance of the attorney. In the throng were many attorneys of note, some of whom have traveled many miles to be present at the climax of the trial which for length and sustained interest has no equal.

Russian Douma Not Alarmed at Threat of Dissolution.

St. Petersburg, April 9.—The whole session in the lower house of parliament yesterday was given up to agrarian debates, and in spite of the threats in the official Russia that the advocacy of compulsory expropriation of lands might result in the dismissal of the douma, every speaker, except the Conservatives, urged this as the sole salvation of the peasantry. One peasant deputy declared that he "did not come here to talk purchase of land, but to take it."

The expectation that Premier Stolypin would make an announcement embodying in substance the Russia's threats brought out a full audience on the floor and in the galleries, but the premier did not claim the floor.

The cabinet submitted a draft of a law replacing three varieties of martial law by a single one, namely, a state of extraordinary security proclaimable by the emperor, which places supreme power in the hands of special commanders-in-chief, who are subordinated to the minister of the interior. The commanders are given the following rights over the inhabitants: The search and arrest of persons, expulsion for a fortnight from the province, the censure and suppression of newspapers, the closing of schools, imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, and the imposition of fines of $500. These rights may be enforced equally during war time, when the functions of the commanders-in-chief will be given to the commanders of the separate armies.

The Constitutional Democrats have decided to hasten the passage of this law in order to put an end to the operations of the more arbitrary varieties of the law now in operation.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant milk supply for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless remedy to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can be had in any state, or condition of the female system.

"Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disordered pelvic catarrhal, prolapsus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find no harm in any state, or condition of the female system."

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept a substitute for this remedy of known composition. A secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

IT is probable that the new laws will be proclaimed in full force tomorrow. The books have been sent out and the Governor only waits the receipts from all the county clerks before proclaiming the new laws in force.

THE time to readjust the gas rates in this city for a term of years will soon be at hand. It is the common belief of the gas users here that they have been paying too much for their gas. A comparison of rates charged over the state shows that the Seymour rate is considerably above the average. To be sure the local plant is in the hands of a receiver but not because the proceeds are insufficient to make the plant self sustaining. The receivership was brought about, speaking mildly, by the misapplication of the proceeds. We predict that the receivership will demonstrate that the plant is more than self-sustaining. In fixing a new rate all the facts about this plant, what it actually cost, what it costs to operate it and what the earnings are, should be made known. The whole question should be thoroughly studied.

Tree Snakes of Borneo.

The flying frogs of the Malays appear to be mythical, but the tree snakes of Borneo are credited with taking flying leaps from the boughs of trees to the ground. It is found that scales on the lower part of the body may be drawn inward so that the whole lower surface becomes concave. The resistance to the air is thus greatly increased, and experiments indicate that the snakes do not fall in writhing coils, but are let down gently in a direct line by the parachute-like action of their peculiar bodies.—Chambers' Journal.

WOMEN

Have Narrow Escape From Switch Engine.

A group of ladies came near being run over by the Pennsylvania switch engine Monday near the B. & O. S-W. crossing. It seems that the attention of all the ladies had just been attracted to a westbound B. & O. S-W. passenger train, which was just pulling out, and without looking the other way, started across the Pennsylvania tracks in front of the approaching engine. An eyewitness stated to the REPUBLICAN that the engine scarcely missed one of the women a foot. This circumstance reminds us of one which occurred near the same place several weeks ago and which created considerable excitement among those who witnessed the affair. Some ladies, past middle age, were going south toward the Pennsylvania passenger station when a B & O train was pulling up from the west. The ladies had plenty of time and there was no use of hurrying but one of them took a notion that she must cross ahead of the train, which was a short one and was coming in at a pretty good rate of speed. The engine was almost upon her when she cleared the track. Had she waited a few seconds the train would have passed, but some how she was seized with an impulse to cross then at the risk of her life. A number of such cases of thoughtlessness have been called to our attention recently and we deem it necessary for the safety of our citizens to give a word of caution. In both cases mentioned above luck was on the side of the careless pedestrians but the next time it may be the other way. You can't be too careful where there are several tracks and trains running back and forth on different roads.

SEYMOUR GRAYS

Lost to Franklin In Twelve Inning Game.

The Seymour Grays lost to Franklin Monday afternoon in a twelve inning game by a score of 3 to 2. It is said that but for a miss throw of Phelan's in the fourth inning the score would have been 2 to 1 which was pretty close to the prediction in the REPUBLICAN yesterday. All the runs were made in the fourth, except the one made by Franklin in the twelfth inning. The Indianapolis Star correspondent at Franklin classes the Seymour Grays as a strong semi-professional team. It was the opening game of the season there and was well attended despite the very cold weather, the game ending in a whirling snow storm. Score: Franklin 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 1 3 7 5 Seymour 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 4 4 Batteries—Franklin, Beam and Mills, Demaree and Moran; Seymour, Roegge and Lucas. Struck out—By Beam, 15; by Roegge 11; Bases on balls—Off Beam, 3. Umpire—Scholler. Roegge pitched the whole game for the Grays with good effect. Not a man was given a base on balls. One after another was struck out by him, many not even touching the ball for a foul. The work of Lucas behind the bat was excellent.

Returning To Seymour.

Hugo Kerkhof, who has had a position at the ticket office at the traction terminal station at Indianapolis with Thomas J. Gore for several months, has been given a leave of absence for the summer on account of his health and arrived in this city last Friday. Mrs. Kerkhof arrived in Seymour last Thursday and their household goods arrived here Saturday. Mr. Kerkhof has rented a house on E. Brown street near Broadway, where they will go to housekeeping as soon as the house has been vacated by its present occupants. Mr. Kerkhof will roust about this summer for G. L. Paul, of the Seymour Table and Cabinet Company, and if his health is such as to justify it he will return to Indianapolis in the fall and resume his duties at the terminal station. Mr. and Mrs. Kerkhof's many friends here are glad to have them with us and hope that the change of occupation will be beneficial to Mr. Kerkhof's health.

Foot Badly Mangled.

Willie Koop, aged about ten years, son of Richard Koop, who resides about three miles northwest of this city, had his right foot badly lacerated Monday morning about nine o'clock while cutting feed with a power machine. His foot was caught and wound in the cogs. The boy's hollowing stopped the mules and an older brother heard him and ran to his assistance. It was necessary to back the mules and turn the machine backward to release the boy from his position. He was brought to this city for medical attention. The entire foot was badly lacerated and it was necessary to remove two of the toes. It is said that the boy had on a big pair of felt boots and rubbers, which protected him somewhat or the results would have been much more serious. There is some hope that he may not lose any more of the foot, but the member is in a bad shape and it will necessarily take some time yet to determine what the results will be.

While here he announced that a pastor had been secured for the church at this place and that he would arrive here to take charge of the work about the first of next month. Miss Versa Hyman, of Greenfield, has supplied here for the past six months very acceptably and the members of the church here and many others will be sorry to see her leave. She will probably go from here to the north part of the state to assist in a meeting. She has had charge of the work here since last fall when the pastor, Miss Etta Inois, resigned to become a missionary in South Africa. When Miss Hyman came here she only expected to remain till about the first of January.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Halls Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

KORN-KINKS

Kornelia Kinks got swatted for this,
Which served her quite right—the jocular miss,
For she said when Mammy's fingers got caught,
"Oh! hully gee, Ma! I fergot it was hot."

Have you tried "Korn Kinks" yet? If not, do so at once, for you are missing something really fine. It's made of the malted flakes of corn, and its flavor will delight you. It's easily digested, too. At your grocer's and only a nickel.

GROOMING COUNTS

But it cannot make a Fair Skin or a Glossy Coat.

Women with good complexions cannot be homely. Creams, lotions, washes and powders cannot make a fair skin. Every horseman knows that the satin coat of his thoroughbred comes from the animal's "all-right" condition. Let the horse get "off his feed" and his coat turns dull. Caring, brushing and rubbing will give him a clean coat, but cannot produce the coveted smoothness and gloss of the horse's skin, which is his complexion. The ladies will see the point.

Lane's Family Medicine

Is the best preparation for ladies who desire a gentle laxative medicine that will give the body perfect cleanliness internally and the wholeness that produces such skins as painters love to copy.

Attending Trial.

Engineer John Rothrock and baggage-master Otto DeArmond, of the Southern Indiana, are off duty on account of attending a trial at Brazil. The trial grew out of train killing a man at the Hulman street yards in Terre Haute many months ago. L. A. An Animal Story For Little Folks

A False Friend

There was once a crane who had for his very good friend a monkey. The monkey, who was extremely mischievous, got the crane into a great deal of trouble, but the worst thing he ever did I am going to tell you about.

The crane had seen a man playing on a flute and longed very much to do the same. "Why not?" said the monkey. "Your beak will be the very thing. I'll drill the holes in it, through which you can blow sweet music."

The crane pranced for joy. "I can play at all the dances," he cried. For you must know that cranes are very fond of giving dances and going to dances. "All who listen will admire me. Miss Isabella Crane will gladly become my bride when I am a famous musician."

"No doubt," said the monkey, "and in your day of grandeur I hope you will remember that you owe it all to me."

But alas and alas! When the mischievous monkey got those holes drilled through the crane's beak not a sound could he make. Even his old cry, which was not very pretty, came strange and whistling. "I'm ruined!" cried the crane.

And it was so. The young crane lady whom he had hoped to marry said she did not desire a damaged article. All the other cranes cast him out and would have nothing to do with him. "This comes," said the monkey, "from being too ambitious. Who ever heard of a crane attempting to be a musician?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"Do you really believe that an ass ever spoke to Baalam?" queried a man who prided himself on his superiority to the old beliefs.

Coleridge, to whom the question was put, replied: "My friend, I have no doubt whatever of it. I have been spoken to in the same way myself."

EAGLES' PARADE

Witnessed by Several Hundred People.

The Seymour Eagles held their Third Annual banquet in this city Monday evening. Shortly after 7 o'clock the parade formed in front of their lodge rooms on S. Chestnut street. The parade was over the brick streets, and was headed by Henry Heckman and George Patrick on white horses. These were followed by the Seymour band. Following in line were 122 Eagles and prospective Eagles.

The parade disbanded at Armory Hall where the work of initiating thirty-six candidates was done. This work was completed about 11:30 when all went to the Masonic Temple where the banquet was served. Ex-judge John M. Lewis acted as toastmaster and the banquet and the speeches lasted till about 1 o'clock. There were a few visitors from Bedford and other places and a number of the non-resident members of the Seymour Aerie were in attendance and all pronounce the meeting a decided success.

Hand Caught In Press.

Roy Lanham, an employee in the job department of the REPUBLICAN office met with an unfortunate accident this morning while feeding a job press. His left hand was caught in the press he was operating, breaking the middle finger between the first and second joints and mashing two other fingers pretty badly. Dr. Gerrish dressed his wounds. Roy will probably be off duty for about two weeks.

Best One Yet.

The presentation of "When Knighthood Was in Flower" at the opera house last night was thoroughly enjoyed by a large crowd. Everyone grew enthusiastic over the play before the end of the first act. A NOVEL DOOR LOCK.

Constructed With the Design to Prevent Operation With a False Key.

A door lock of decidedly unique form has recently been invented by Peter Ebesson of St. Paul, Neb. While the construction of this lock is not complicated, yet it has been ingeniously designed to prevent operation with a false key. Furthermore, it comprises a latch of such form as to prevent shaking or rattling of the door.

As shown in the accompanying engraving, the lock consists of three disk-like sections—A, B and C—the disk B being stationary and the others revolvable. The disks are mounted in a socket in the door and project from opposite sides thereof. The latch is operated by a pair of knobs at opposite sides of the door, which are respectively secured to the disks A and C. In the face of the disk A is an eccentric slot (D) adapted to receive a stud projecting from the door frame. By operating the knob of disk A the latch may be turned to engage the stud in the eccentric slot, thus locking the door. The disk C is connected with the disk A by a series of bevel gears, so that by operating the knob of disk C it is possible to rotate the disk A to latch or unlatch the door.

In order to lock the door a novel mechanism has been provided in the central disk (B). As shown in the cross sectional view, a barrel (E) is mounted in this disk. This barrel is provided with a bolt (H), which is adapted to engage a slot in one of the bevel gears and thus prevent rotation of the other two disks. In the barrel (E) is a tumbler (F) which is carried on a short shaft mounted to slide in slots in the barrel. This tumbler is provided with a projection at its upper end adapted normally to register with the central one of three flanges (G) projecting from a block above. Now, in order to unlock the latch a key is inserted in the barrel (E), and this presses the tumbler (F) to the position shown in dotted lines, when the projection thereon clears the central projection (G) and the barrel may then be rotated to move the bolt (H) clear of the bevel gears. The tumbler is held in normal position by a pair of springs which bear against its shaft. It will be observed that the ends of the tumbler are of odd form, which the key must fit to prevent the tumbler from tilting on its axis when being pushed clear of the projection (A). If a false key is introduced, as shown at K in one of the section views, the tumbler will be tilted up into engagement with the outer projections (G).

New Invention For Treating Flax. A new Australian machine for treating flax is reported from Melbourne. It is said to produce a much larger yield of fiber, of greater strength and of unstained or natural color, which for the purpose of manufacturing such lines as linen, damask, etc., requires no chemical bleaching in the finishing operations. The government expert strongly favors this new process after exhaustive trials on account of its expedition in producing fiber of exceptionally fine quality. The flax in its rough condition is passed through a machine consisting of three pair of rollers, then immersed for an hour in a bath of hot water containing added ingredients (not chemicals). Then the material is drained and dried, put through the breaking machine and finally through the scutcher. To make a superfine quality it is washed twice, which makes the fiber pure white.

Hollow Glass Bricks. The demand for hollow bricks and building blocks for house construction has induced glass manufacturers to put hollow glass bricks on the market, and they promise to be used extensively for novel and artistic effects. The first glass bricks, being solid, proved a failure on account of their cost, but the hollow glass bricks can be made at a much less expense. They are lighter and stronger than clay bricks and are such excellent nonconductors that walls built of them are proof against dampness, sound, heat and cold.

The bricks are sealed hermetically when hot and are placed in walls with a colorless mortar made of special glass. The bonding strength of the glass mortar is almost as great as the bricks themselves.—Building Management.

CHILD ALMOST A SOLID SORE

From Skin Disease from Birth Until Six Years Old—Father Spent Fortune on Her Without Benefit—Old Doctor Suggested Cuticura, which Cured Her in Two Months, Leaving

SKIN SOFT AS A BABY'S AND WITHOUT A SCAR

"I have a cousin in Rockingham Co. who once had a skin disease from her birth until she was six years of age. Her father had spent a fortune on her to get her cured and none of the treatments did her any good. Old Dr. C. suggested that he try the Cuticura Remedies which he did. When he commenced to use it the child was almost in a solid scab. He had used it about two months and the child was well. I was there when they commenced to use your Cuticura Remedies. I stayed that week and then returned home and stayed two weeks and then went back and stayed with them two weeks longer and when I went home I could hardly believe she was the same child. Her skin was as soft as a baby's without a scar on it. I have not seen her in seventeen years but I have heard from her and the last time I heard from her she was well. That is where I became acquainted with Cuticura. I hope this may be of some service to you in the future. Mrs. W. P. Ingle, Burlington, N. C., June 16, 1905."

WORLD'S EMOLLIENT Is Cuticura Ointment.

Yes I Have Found it at Last

Found what? Why that Chamberlain's Salve cures eczema and all manner of itching of the skin. I have been afflicted for many years with skin disease. I had to get up three or four times every night and wash with cold water to allay the terrible itching, but since using this salve in December, 1905, the itching has stopped and has not troubled me.—ELDER JOHN T. ONLEY, Rootville, Pa. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

Indiana's New Laws.
Indianapolis, April 9.—The new laws enacted by the last general assembly will go into effect Wednesday morning. Copies of the 1907 acts have been sent out to every county clerk in the state and all of the clerks except two have filed their receipts. The two counties still to be heard from are Putnam and Madison, and it is thought that their receipts will be filed today. As soon as the last receipt is in the hands of the secretary the governor's proclamation will be issued and the acts will at once become laws.

Gentle and Effective
A well-known Manitoba editor writes: "As an inside worker I find Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets invaluable for the touches of biliousness natural to sedentary life, their action being gentle and effective clearing the digestive tract and the head." Price, 25 cents. Samples free C. W. Milhous.

Pumice stone is a mineral substance. It is produced by the solidification of the foam, or spume, on liquid lava, the spume being made by the escape of steam. The word pumice is derived from pumex, a Latin word akin to spume—spume, or foam.—New York American.

Jews in Fear of Attack.
Odessa, April 9.—A sensation has been caused by the results in the municipal elections just ended, which resulted in a victory for the union of True Russian People. Out of seventy-two members of the town council sixty-seven are now members of the union. The previous Liberal council was regarded as the only safeguard against anti-Jewish disorders and the only body capable of interfering with the authorities against the Black Hundreds. The Jews are in fear of fresh outrages and believe this will occur if parliament is dissolved.

Mormons Give to the Chinese.
Salt Lake City, Utah, April 9.—Twenty tons of flour were voted for the relief of the Chinese famine sufferers at the final session of the seventh Mormon conference. The flour will be taken from the tithing stores and will be turned over to the Red Cross society.

The Cuban Situation.
Havana, April 9.—There is a general impression, gathered by what Secretary Taft has said since his arrival here, that the American occupation of Cuba will last for another year at least.

The city government of Indianapolis is hunting a home, as the county commissioners have notified Mayor Bookwalter that the present offices in the courthouse basement must be vacated within a week to give room for two superior courts created by the recent legislature. The commissioners have been trying to oust the city for some time but without success. Commissioner McGregor and his associates called on Mayor Bookwalter today and told him that they are in earnest and that immediate possession of the offices is necessary. The mayor and his associates will probably find quarters in some of the new office buildings until they can erect a city hall.

BOMBARDMENT IS BARRED

Commander of American Gunboat Tells General Commanding Victorious Forces Where to Head In.

The Bombardment of Coast Towns Will Not Be Permitted Under Any Circumstances.

New Orleans, April 9.—That Puerto Cortez was surrendered without fighting and that about 1,500 Honduran soldiers abandoned the port two days before the Nicaraguan troops appeared, was the information brought here today by the steamer Anselm from Puerto Cortez.

The Hondurans did not desert their post through cowardice, according to these dispatches, but decided that the war was over. They returned to the banana plantations, where most of them had been employed as laborers before the war began.

United States marines closed all saloons in Ceiba after the abandonment of the port by the Hondurans. A proclamation to that end was issued by Commander Fullam of the Marietta and Virgil C. Reynolds, United States vice consul. Sailors from the United States ship Marietta will patrol the streets and assist the civil authorities to preserve order and protect property, foreign and private. Commander Fullam also gave out a statement to the general commanding the Nicaraguan expedition engaged in capturing Honduran ports, to the effect that the bombardment of coast towns cannot be permitted during the frequent wars and revolutions in Central American states. "It must be perfectly plain," says Commander Fullam, "that foreign interests could not possibly be secure if bombardments are permitted. On the contrary, such interests would be subjected to the danger of complete destruction in every case. If bombardments of coast towns are to be resorted to during the frequent wars and revolutions in Central American states, the mercantile interests of all foreigners will be absolutely insecure in the future. From this it is plainly evident that assurances regarding the safety of American and foreign interests would be of no value whatever unless bombardments of these unfortified wooden towns are forbidden; and it is equally plain that a ship of war ordered here to protect American interests would not be excused for subjecting these same interests to inevitable ruin by permitting the destruction of these towns by fire and bombardment.

"Fully three-fourths of the valuable mercantile and business houses in these coast towns are owned by foreigners. Neither belligerents will be permitted to occupy or take cover in these houses during the course of hostilities.

"Trusting that I may not be compelled to inform the United States government that I am mistaken regarding the attitude of Nicaraguan forces toward foreign business interests on this coast, and hoping that you will avoid all danger of complications by giving directions that foreign property shall not be subjected to destruction by fire and bombardment, I remain, etc."

Commander Fullam notified General Quiroz, commanding the Honduran forces near Ceiba, that it would be necessary to defend the town from a position outside the city.

General Lee Christmas, the American, of Memphis, Tenn., fighting with the Honduran army, who was reported injured and captured at the battle of Namsique, has been located in Tegucigalpa, where the Nicaraguans took him. He is recovering.

A Woman Tells How to Relieve Rheumatic Pains

I have been a very great sufferer from the dreadful disease, rheumatism for a number of years. I have tried many medicines but never got much relief from any of them until two years ago, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I found relief before I had used all of one bottle, but kept on applying it and soon felt like a different woman. Through my advice many of my friends have tried it and can tell you how wonderfully it has worked.—MRS. SARAH A. COLE, 140 S. New St., Dover, Del. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes rest and sleep possible. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

When New York Was New Orange.
Manhattan Island was once named New Orange for fifteen months. When the English took it from the Dutch the name New Amsterdam was changed to New York, and then when the Dutch recaptured it in July, 1673, they called it New Orange. It held that name until the English retook it in November, 1674, when the name New York was restored and has been retained ever since.

Miss Meadowsweet—Excuse my ignorance, but ought I to call you Mr. Squills or Dr. Squills? The Doctor—Oh, call me anything you like. Some of my friends call me an old fool. Miss Meadowsweet—Ah, but that's only people who know you intimately! —London Punch.

The Rainy and the Dry Days.
The owner of the ranch in one of the arid regions of the great west was entertaining an eastern relative. He showed him over his broad acres, spoke of the difficulties that had been overcome in making the desert blossom as the rose and outlined his plans for the future.
"But is it possible," asked the visitor, "to make more than a bare living on such land and in such a climate as this?"
"It is. I have made considerably more than a bare living on this land."
"I am glad to hear it, Cyrus. Then you have something laid by for a rainy day, have you?"
"Not exactly," rejoined the host with a laugh. "On the contrary, with the help of an occasional rainy day, I have managed to lay something by for the dry days."—Youth's Companion.

When Reptiles Die.
Reptiles rarely die in the daylight—usually between nightfall and midnight. Many of them have an instinctive prescience of death and seek particular places to await the end, while those whose lives are spent underground come to the surface before death. Snakes, chameleons, crocodiles and turtles plainly show in their faces the approach of death.—Fall Mall Gazette.

Cured of Rheumatism
Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn., had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work," he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned. In three weeks the rheumatism had disappeared and has not since returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

Governor Hanly was able to spend several hours at his office Monday. His physician stated that he probably can give half the day to work from now on, but his friends are advising him to take a long vacation. It is said that he may heed their advice after he gets the business created by the recent legislature cleared away. The governor has appointed William C. Ball of Terre Haute, Guy H. Humphreys of Linton, Democrats; William C. VanArsdel of Indianapolis and T. P. Johnson of Benton, Republicans, as members of the board of management of the Indiana boys' school at Plainfield. William Blakeley of Shelbyville, who wants to succeed D. H. McAbee of Indianapolis as state factory inspector, called on the governor. It is understood that McAbee will be appointed to another position.

The Original

The idea of a Cough Syrup that will act on the bowels, and thus assist in expelling colds from the system is new and original in Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Nearly all other cough cures are constipating, especially those containing Opium. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar moves the bowels, contains no Opium.

Laxative

A certain, safe and harmless remedy for all Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, La Grippe, Bronchitis, Influenza and all Lung and Bronchial affections. Mothers praise the children's favorite, Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar.

BUSINESS COLLEGES ARE FAILURES

In small cities and towns, because:
1. There is no sufficient population to support a GOOD school;
2. Such schools are usually conducted by persons who are NOT qualified, or who make it a practice to travel about and defraud their patrons;
3. There are few if any opportunities for their graduates to secure employment in such localities;
4. The THOROUGH business colleges are located in the larger cities and are conducted by persons who are qualified;
5. The graduates of business colleges in small cities or towns can not secure employment in large cities when thrown in competition with the THOROUGH graduates of high-class schools, as business men have no time to experiment with incompetents. Therefore, be wise. Send for the finest FREE catalogue ever issued by a commercial school, before deciding to throw away your money for a worthless training at some cheap school.
